What are your plans for Easter?

REVIEW

According to Luke 10:25-27. what are the two main qualities God is looking for in our life? How does Jesus amplify each of these?

The actions of the priest and the Levite remind us that it is easy to go through religious motions without letting the radical generosity of God’s love for us translate into radical generosity from our lives toward others. In what ways did this story challenge you to love the hard-to-love people in your life in more radical ways?

When Jesus told this story, why did he make the Samaritan the hero? What does this teach us about the people God calls us to go out of our way to love?

What are the practical steps to generous love we talked about at the end of the message? Can you memorize them?

DIGGING DEEPER

Read Leviticus 19:34. While the expert in the law knew he was to love his neighbor, who do these verses tell us is our neighbor? How should we treat migrant workers? How should we treat immigrants? In our current political climate, does this impacts the limits we place on our borders?

Read James 4:17. When we pass by an opportunity to meet the needs of others, how does God view our lack of action?

Read Matthew 25:31-46. What did Jesus say was the important difference between the sheep and the goats? How important is it to go out of our way to love people that are not our natural friends? Who are the people you can go out of your way to love?
